The Worshipful Company of Glass Sellers

On Tuesday 24th March, David Wilkinson was granted Freedom of the City of London. The ceremony took place in the Chamberlain's Court at Guildhall and was conducted by the Clerk of the Court, Murray Craig.

The Freedom of the City of London ceremony is thought to be one of the longest running traditional ceremonies with the first freedom granted in 1237.

The next step for David is to be clothed by his livery company, The Worshipful Company of Glass Sellers on the 11th June. For more details and photos from the ceremony please visit our website - wilkinson-plc.com/news

Royal Collection Exhibition

We had the pleasure of restoring this chandelier by Lobmeyr, so that it could be displayed at The Queen's Gallery, Buckingham Palace for the Painting Paradise: The Art of the Garden Exhibition that is open now until 11th October.

It is photographed in an unrestored state, so make sure to visit the exhibition to see the finished piece and also a video that shows the history of the chandelier and its restoration at our workshop.

New filament LED

We now stock a new range of LED bulbs. These are filament LED's produced by Girard Sudron to replace the existing GS1 tungsten bulbs.

They are 1w, have a 25,000 hour life span and light up instantly but unfortunately are non-dimmable.

Pictured is the 1w E14 240v Amber (not available in E10).

Also available are 1w E10 240v Clear or Matt Satin.

All are priced at £8.95 +vat with discounts available for larger orders.
